How much energy does a solar PV system produce in Tallinn?

Average 1.54kWh/day in Autumn. Average 0.50kWh/day in Winter. Average 3.97kWh/day in Spring. To maximize your solar PV system's energy output in Tallinn, Estonia (Lat/Long 59.433, 24.7323) throughout the year, you should tilt your panels at an angle of 49°; South for fixed panel installations.

Can you use solar panels in Estonia?

Estonia has a climate where snow and rain do not cause problems with solar panels. This rain will remove bird droppings and other debris. However, you must take care not to damage the panels by washing them. Snow will melt from the panels if they get enough sunlight. This way, you can generate electricity without spending much time cleaning them.

Can solar panels be installed on a flat roof in Estonia?

In Estonia, most solar panel installations are installed on pitched roofs. Ideally, the panels should be installed at a 41 degree angle on the south side of the building. If they are installed to the north, the panels will not generate electricity. Alternatively, flat roofs may also be installed with solar panels.

Are there incentives for businesses to install solar energy in Estonia?

Yes, there are incentives for businesses wanting to install solar energy in Estonia. The Estonian government offers a range of financial support and tax incentives for businesses that invest in renewable energy sources such as solar power. These include grants, loans, and tax deductions.

What angle should solar panels be installed in Tallinn?

To optimize the efficiency of a solar PV system installed here, it is recommended that panels be tilted at an angle of 49 degrees facing South. However, Tallinn's position within the Northern Temperate Zone presents some challenges for consistent solar power generation throughout the year.

How much solar radiation does Estonia produce a year?

In Estonia, the amount of solar radiation is comparable to Central Europe; the average amount of radiation has an optimal slope and azimuth of 1100-1200 kWh/m², 85% of which falls between April and October. An optimally installed 1 kW PV plant produces 900 to 1000 kWh of energy per year.
