Is Bahrain transitioning to solar energy projects?

After the establishment of the Sustainable Energy Unit (SEU) in Bahrain in 2014, a radical transition toward launching solar energy projects can clearly be observed. The SEU was established in collaboration between the national government and the United Nations Development Program (UNDP).

Is Bahrain's first solar panel company the start of a sea change?

This is good news for Solar One, Bahrain's first solar panels company. Since its founding in 2017, the startup boasts of contributing over two megawatts of solar to the country's energy mix -- enough to power around 380 US homes. It's a drop in the ocean, but it hopefully marks the beginning of a sea change.

Why are there no barriers to solar PV installation in Bahrain?

None of the participants mentioned any reported barriers to installation of solar PV in Bahrain. This is likely because solar panel installation is relatively new in Bahrain and the participants were not clear on the specifics involved. Effective dissemination of information is necessary, as explained later.

How big is Bahrain's photovoltaic capacity?

According to estimates by the International Renewable Energy Agency, Bahrain's photovoltaic (PV) capacity was around 10 MW at that time. Large-scale plants offer one way to rapidly scale up renewable energy deployment. One notable project is the Askar landfill site in southern governorate.

Does Bahrain have a net metering system?

On the distribution side, Bahrain has adopted a net metering system, allowing businesses and individuals to install solar systems and supply excess electricity to the EWA grid. This encourages wider adoption of solar energy by incentivising individuals and organisations to invest in solar power generation.

How much solar radiation does Bahrain receive?

Bahrain receives approximately 6 kWh/m²/day of solar radiation (Alnaser et al., 2014). The country's global horizontal irradiance is 2160 kWh/m²/year, while direct normal radiation is 2050 kWh/m²/year (IRENA, 2014). In 2016, the average daily sunshine hours exceeded 10 hours, further emphasizing the potential for solar energy in Bahrain (IGA, 2016).
