My 16s 280ah EVE batteries have been on the slow boat for a month. I am going to insulate the battery box that housed my 48v L16 Trojans. Plan is to use rigid foam board insulation on the top, bottom and side of the box. I have read a few post about heating wraps for the battery but figured a simple incandescent light bulb would be the easiest.

It sounds like if the temp thresholds were set correctly the batteries would stay at minimum charging temp and then self-heat once charging started and no longer need the heaters until they completed charging and then began to drift back down. Insulation is then key to keeping the heat inside...
