

What is an LFP battery?

These LFP batteries are ideal for usage in conjunction with solar controllers and solar panels, allowing the battery to be charged even while providing power to an electrical load. Compared to lead acid batteries, our LFP batteries offer outstanding charge life cycles and significantly lighter weight over lead acid batteries for solar applications.

What is the difference between lead acid and LFP batteries?

Compared to lead acid batteries, our LFP batteries offer outstanding charge life cycles and significantly lighter weight over lead acid batteries for solar applications. Our batteries offer greatly enhanced performance and functionality over traditional lead-acid batteries.

What is the difference between LFP and NMC batteries?

LFP batteries typically for more power oriented applications, with the lowest level of cobalt or nickel, and NMC batteries providing the highest level of energy density.

Are LiFePO₄ batteries a good choice?

LiFePO₄ batteries offer a number of advantages, making them an attractive choice for more power hungry applications. Additionally, because they are composed mainly of iron phosphate rather than other metals such as cobalt or lithium, they are typically less expensive to manufacture and therefore more affordable.
