Does Sao Tome and Principe have a right to education?

The Human Rights Measurement Initiative (HRMI) finds that Sao Tome and Principe is fulfilling only 83.8% of its expected commitments to the right to education based on the country's level of income. HRMI breaks down the right to education by looking at the rights to both primary education and secondary education.

How much energy does OTEC use?

This is important, as previous OTEC projects have used a great deal of the energy they generate to run the pumps that bring the cold water to the surface. In 1981, the Tokyo Electric Power Company built an OTEC plant in Nauru that generated around 120 kW of energy, but used around 90 kW of that to run the plant.

Does OTEC provide continuous power?

OTEC has been proven to provide continuous power as well as fresh drinking water and cold water for refrigeration. But while more than a dozen prototypes have been tested intermittently since the first experimental 22-kW low-pressure turbine was deployed in 1930, no commercial-scale plants exist.
