How do I get to Bouvet Island?

Due to its extreme isolation, the only way to reach Bouvet Island is by boat. There are no airports or harbours on the island, and the nearest harbour is located in Cape Town, South Africa, which is about 1,000 miles away from the coast of Bouvet Island.

Where is Bouvet Island?

Bouvet Island is a volcanic island in the South Atlantic Ocean. It's located in the South Atlantic Ocean, and it holds the prestigious title of being the most remote island in the world. This island is situated a whopping 1,739 kilometres (1,080 mi) away from the nearest human settlement, Tristan da Cunha.

Can you live on Bouvet Island?

While people can't live there permanently, there are a few seasonal researchers who visit Bouvet Island every year to study its ecology and wildlife. The island has five research stations and has been visited by researchers from many countries since the first station was built in 1968 by the British.

Why is Bouvet Island so popular?

Because of the distant location of the volcanic island, the unknown early history and the mysteries of an abandoned lifeboat, it's no wonder Bouvet Island attracts numerous literary minds. Bouvet Island has been the setting of more than 3 books / 3 movies, among which are the 2003 movies "Alien vs. Predator".
